MARK REASON

EXPERT TRAINER

Mark Reason is a valuable asset within any organisation and has been used extensively on specialist and consultative roles with project management and project management training. He has been involved since 1984 within the Project Management industry, having started his career in the Royal Air Force before working and delivering projects in the nuclear, public and private sector and the international sporting field. Founder of M R Project Solutions Limited, he has over the past years been engaged with various clients working on the improvement and development of the project management delivery. His involvement is in the form of bespoke learning experiences as an SME in the project management area, writing methodologies for organisations, creating and maintaining project management offices or entering companies to improve their efficiencies within their work streams and to assist with their effective delivery of projects.

Mark has been especially successful recently working with the Saudi Eastern Province Government, developing a new approach to the 20 municipal regions for their construction and infrastructure projects in Saudi Arabia. A published article author in national and international project publications, Mark has been recognised as a specialist trainer and consultant in his discipline, thanks to his professional titles, memberships and accreditations as Licenced City & Guilds in Project Management, Fellow of Association of Project Management, Certified Project Consultant, and Change Management Practitioner.
